Some still without power after storm

Friday, June 14, 2013 - Dominion Power said Friday afternoon that more than 2,400 customers in Hampton were still without power, down from close to 9,000 after Thursday's storm. And power crews were still working in the city, according to the city's Emergency Management office.

City assessment teams went out Friday morning to identify damage caused by the fast-moving storm. At least two houses were reported damaged and the city's 3-1-1 Customer Call Center received more than 20 service requests for downed trees.

The forecast today calls for a chance of showers and storms after noon, with a high near 75 and winds 15-20 mph.

Hampton residents can report a problem or get information about city services by dialing the Call Center at 3-1-1 or 757-727-8311.
